How Celebrities are Giving Back Amid the Coronavirus Pandemic

CELEBRITY DONATIONS

David Guetta: The DJ, producer and songwriter streamed a special performance to raise money in relief of COVID-19 in conjunction with Downtown Miami Development Authority on April 18. As well as covering the production costs for the show, Guetta pledged to match every dollar donated during the show, bringing the total money raised to $700,000 so far.

 davidguetta    I'm still buzzing from what was an incredible night shared with many. Thank you to everyone who joined and to those who were able to donate. Although this is a very unusual time, it was magical to connect with you all through music last night. Most importantly, we've raised money that will help those who need it most. We've raised $700,000 so far and it's still possible to donate via davidguetta.com/donate  link in bio
