Free & cheap things to do this weekend in Miami

It's predicted to be a soggy weekend. That means, indoor time or a driving tour of public art. Who says rain means no fun?

Why not up the ante on takeout and delivery with upscale offerings via Miami Spice. While you're noshing on that fancy meal watch Arsht@Home or past performances by Florida Grand Opera. Had enough of being indoors? Hop in the car and check out public art around town.

We hope you enjoy these recommendations and have a pleasant and relaxing weekend.

DINING DISCOUNTS

Restaurants remain closed, except for outdoor dining. However, with Miami's unpredictable weather that can be tough. That's why the Miami Spice deals — $23 lunch and $39 dinner three-course meals are available for takeout and delivery. As an added incentive, many are offering discounts when you order directly through the restaurant website. Click here for details.

Additionally, take advantage of discounts at several Downtown Miami restaurants with Miami DDA's Go Local Go Direct. Support local eateries and receive a 10 percent discount on delivery from participating restaurants. Click here for more info.
